Sermon Series Summary | It Seemed Good...

What happens when faithful Christians disagree about something that really matters? Acts 15 gives us a remarkable picture of the early church wrestling together with an extremely difficult question. They debate, listen to one another, pay attention to what God is doing, search the Scriptures, seek the guidance of the Holy Spirit, and eventually move forward together. This series explores how we can pursue God's will without demanding our own way… learning to disagree with grace, listen with humility, discern through Scripture, and trust the Holy Spirit to lead God's people together.

Sermon Summary
The Words of the Prophets Agree
Candice Brady | November 11, 2026

Peter, Paul, and Barnabas have shared compelling stories about God's work among the Gentiles, but James takes the conversation one step further, saying, "The words of the prophets agree with this." The church's experience must always be understood in light of what God has revealed in Scripture. Christian discernment listens carefully to experience and one another, but ultimately asks the question, "What has God said?"

Scripture References from the Sermon

Acts 15:13–21 | Amos 9:11–12 | Jeremiah 12:15
Isaiah 45:21| 2 Timothy 3:14–17

Discussion Questions

1. What stands out to you in the text?
2. What is the difference between asking, "Can I find a Bible verse supporting what I already think?" and genuinely submitting our thinking to Scripture?
3. Why can it be difficult to allow Scripture to challenge beliefs or assumptions we have held for a long time?
4. How do Scripture, experience, wisdom, and Christian community appropriately work together when we are discerning God's direction?
5. Are there expectations, traditions, or preferences Christians sometimes unintentionally make prerequisites for following Jesus?
