A FENCE, A SHED, AND OUR MISSION

If you didn't know, the church built a fence on the corner of Turner and Moore. Inside the fence stand a small shed and a spacious carport. Why?

Because elder Sam Billingsley came to the Administration and Finance ministry with a problem. His Disaster Relief Team needed better security and protection for its vans and trailers. It also needed a space to repair and maintain its equipment.

So Kent Jones, deacon in charge of facility management for Administration/Finance, took the lead in making all that happen. "It's our ministry's job to fulfill the goals of other ministries—whether it's Disaster Relief or Rock House," Kent says. "Now we have a safer, more secure place not only for Disaster Relief equipment but also for the vehicles that serve other ministries."

This synergy across multiple ministries does lead to service of real people: damaged homes in faraway places get repaired, seniors take a bus to help out small congregations; teenagers travel to conferences or rallies; the poor and disabled are brought to the building for food, worship, or Bible study.

In a year's time hundreds, maybe thousands, of people either serve or are served thanks to those vehicles. It's nice to know that they will last longer, and we can continue to fulfill our mission to people in need.

TLC 2020

Rule number one, "Get your treasure straight." This phrase rang out repeatedly during TLC 2020.

Throughout its 20 plus years of existence, the Teen Leaders Conference (TLC) has trained hundreds of teenagers from Searcy, Judsonia, Beebe and Cabot in Kingdom leadership.

This year's conference was another fantastic one. It's main focus came from Matthew 6:19-21, where Jesus basically challenges us to "get our treasure straight." Teens from seven area Churches of Christ absorbed this challenge in worship, Bible study, prayer, and fellowship.

College Church took 20 students to TLC this year. During some group time on Sunday night, we were able to hear from each one as they shared what they would remember about their experience. Based on those conversations, it was easy to conclude our students grew exponentially in the Spirit over the weekend.

I can assure you our students returned from this awesome weekend much better equipped to remember rule number one. So did I. - Nick
