NOEL'S NOTES

We were stunned early Tuesday morning with the dreadful news of tornado damage in the Nashville and Cookeville areas. Three congregations of our fellowship in Cookeville were especially hurt by the death of family members. Pray for the College Heights, Collegeside and Sycamore Churches of Christ and the families who have lost loved ones.

College Church is partnering with the Maple Hill congregation in Lebanon, TN, in relief efforts. We will also be working with Andrew Baker and Harding students based at the Timothy Hill Retreat Center in Smithville, TN, while doing clean-up each day during Spring Break. On Friday morning, Disaster Relief Team members Gary Roberts and Kent Jones (pictured) left for Lebanon with the all-important shower trailer, which will be used by workers and, when necessary, by displaced residents. Other teams will be leaving from the College Church parking lot on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday. If you are willing to go, please contact Chris Adams, Sam Billingsley or Scott Diles. This effort will continue over the next few weeks or months.

Another way to help is through gift cards from Walmart, Lowes and Home Depot. These will be used for fuel, food for workers, and for families who are rebuilding their lives. You can also donate by giving cash or checks to one of our elders or the church office. Please make sure checks are clearly marked "Disaster Relief."

TIM WESTBROOK: WHAT IS YOUR FAVORITE SCRIPTURE?

Micah 6:8: "What does the LORD require of you but to do justice, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with your God?"

Recently installed as an elder, Tim has been a member here since his family's return from Hungary 17 years ago. His answer: "This well known verse focuses on the kind of faithful walk that James labels as 'pure religion' (Jas. 1:27). I want to spend the days that God has given me by pursuing His righteousness for my communities and do it in a way that emulates the kindness and love of Christ."

UPPER ELEMENTARY MURAL PROJECT

Trey Reely wants to brighten your child's day.

Well, as Director of the College church Upper-Elementary Bible Class program, he at least wants to brighten the Sundays and Wednesdays of your 4th-6th graders.

Realizing that "Our classrooms [and hallway] are bland to say the least," he commissioned local artist, Jason White, to paint murals on all of them.

His reasoning? "Improving the visual environment lets families know we care about our program."

The entire project should be finished by April. At the moment, 5th graders (and anyone else who would like to) can view a nearly completed mural of Jesus in the temple as a young boy [pictured].

Trey, who also teaches 4th graders, loves the energy of his students and their receptivity to Bible stories that some may be hearing for the first time. Being surrounded by vivid biblical scenes, he hopes, will enhance their learning experience.

As director of the program, Trey knows that with or without stimulating art, the key to successful learning remains people. "We need more teachers," he says, and reminds hesitant candidates that their commitment need not be for more than three months out of the year.

For Christian adults who have ability and love kids, you might say teaching works even better than paint to brighten a child's day.
