COLLEGE
CHURCH OF CHRIST

Intentionally connected to God, His Word, His world, and to each other.

Cliff Ganus: A Life of Integrity

Dad owned an airplane for several years, and taught those of us who became licensed to fly—Charles, Richard, and Cliff—that avoiding excessive speed or stressful maneuvers was vital to maintain the craft's structural integrity.

The term "integrity" also applies to a person's life, and this quality was important to Dad. From our early days we traveled with him, eventually hearing hundreds of his sermons. Among many familiar themes, his encouragement to build a life of integrity still resonates.

A life of integrity is one in which everything holds together, securely connected to the core. It's a life in which the public face, the family engagement, the private time, and the spiritual commitment form a unified whole. Nothing is inconsistent; nothing is contradictory. Message and mission are joined in everything. As a result, the life of integrity never comes apart under pressure.

That message was compelling because of how dad said it — and how he lived it.

Whatever he said, he meant. Obviously a person of integrity does not lie, but dad took it one step further. He didn't exaggerate, and he encouraged us not to. If we said, "I've heard that a million times," he'd reply, "Was it really a million?"

Perhaps the most important way dad showed integrity was in his attention to the vows he made to Mom. At the altar he promised he would be with her "for better or worse, for richer or poorer, in sickness and in health, till death do us part." In recent years, as her mind and body declined, he did all of the laundry, shopping, cooking, and dishwashing (quickly learning that cups need to go into the dishwasher upside down). He kept his promise.

He often expressed the wish to live just a little longer than Mom to ensure she was taken care of. When that appeared unlikely, he guided us through the financial provisions he had made for her, and we assured him that she would be cared for and loved.

Although a great classroom teacher, dad most effectively taught by example. If actions speak more loudly than words, then his life of integrity spoke to us and still speaks to us, implanted in our memories and lives.

"The just man walks in his integrity; his children are blessed after him" (Prov. 20:7 MEV).

Cliff Ganus III, Debbie Duke, Charles Ganus

NOEL'S NOTES

This past Sunday was our best in-person attendance since COVID hit us last year. We had 826! I know that was due in part to Father's Day as well as Harding students and Honor Symposium attendees being with us. Every Sunday more members are returning to our assemblies. It is exciting to see our church family growing stronger in the bonds of love as we serve and worship together.

VBS has come and gone for another year, and what an outstanding day—made possible by many volunteers from College, Downtown, Cloverdale and West Side. About 260 kids enjoyed Bible stories retold in creative ways. I'm thankful to Tianna Tripp, Amber Boyd and Kerri Behel for their outstanding leadership, but VBS could not have happened without the work of Nick McNabb, Heather Rollins and Melissa Shipp! To everyone who helped in any way, and to all who brought children and grandchildren, thank you!

Our Summer Engage groups are off to a great start! I'm thankful for all the host families and group leaders for the impact they are making to help us be more connected. Don't forget that this Wednesday, June 30, the Engage groups will not meet, so please join us at Berryhill Park for the College Church Cookout starting at 6:15 p.m. There will be plenty of food and a Kona Ice Truck!

There are still Change-for-Children cans available. If you haven't already, please take one home today. These cans accept change, checks and paper money to support the ministry of Children's Homes, Inc. The cans are due back the end of July.

GREAT COMMISSION SUNDAY

GCS 2021 is upon us and will officially launch Thursday, July 1, with applications due by August 1. Our special offering will take place on Sunday, October 17.

Your GCS committee would like to make a special plea for help in securing a larger number of domestic applicants. We need you to spread the word and encourage those who dream of serving or who have recently begun serving, especially in the domestic mission field.

Applications are available in the Welcome Center and online; thank you in advance for your help.

THANK YOU

There are no words to express my deep love and appreciation for my Church Family. You have been faithful in your support for me and my family through my battle against a serious cancer since March 10. The food, gifts, cards, calls, messages, visits and most especially your intentional, continuing prayers have lifted us up thus far.

I am now beginning the second half of my chemo treatments after a scan showed the chemo is making a difference. Praise God for His Presence, His love, and His Mercy and Grace for me. I know the prayers of brothers, sisters and friends like you have made all the difference, and I ask that you continue them as we continue this journey.

Please pray for Dr. Koch as well—for his wisdom, guidance, and his well-being as he plans my regimen to fight and win this battle.

Love you all for being there for me and my family during this difficult time.

MESSAGE FROM DEREK GLOVER, MONROE CHURCH OF CHRIST

Derek Glover, a native of Searcy, is among the domestic missionaries that College Church supports. He has sent us a brochure with a summary of this past "Covid Year" as it impacted his small congregation in Monroe, Wisconsin, and spells out their goals and plans for the future. He also includes specific prayer requests for the work. This professionally produced brochure can be found in the Welcome Center. We encourage you to take one, read it, and pray for the Glover family as well as their fellow church members.
