As we step into a new quarter of our Rooted year, we're turning our attention to something we all need: relationships. God never intended for us to follow Jesus alone. Spiritual growth happens in community–when we have people who know us, encourage us, challenge us, pray with us, and walk through life with us. Authentic relationships give us a place to be known and loved, while also helping us become more like Jesus.

This quarter, our focus is Rooted in Relationships, and our challenge is simple: take a step toward deeper community.Maybe that means investing more intentionally in a friendship you already have. Maybe it means taking the initiative to start a new friendship, finding someone who can mentor you, or joining a Connect Group.

You don't have to do all of these. Just take a step.

Our prayer is that this season would move us beyond simply being a church that gathers together to becoming a church family that truly knows, loves, and walks with one another. We were made for this kind of community, and I believe there is something beautiful God wants to do in us as we make room for deeper relationships.

We are grateful to be rooted with you.

With love,

Justin and Katelyn
