INVITE.

Before they ever walk through our doors, we can meet them outside.

For Rylee, seeing FBC Lawton's parking lot filled with thousands of people at Trunk or Treat feels surprisingly familiar. "It feels like home," she said. "When I see that parking lot filled with families, I think about the memories being made and the opportunity we have to make families feel at home here, too."

Growing up at FBC, Rylee remembers the church's Fall Festival as a place where she felt safe, welcomed, and loved. Today, she gets to help create that same experience for another generation.

And creating it takes the whole church. More than 2,000 people may make their way through the event, requiring more than 80,000 pieces of candy, dozens of trunks, and an army of volunteers. But behind those big numbers is a much bigger purpose.

"You're not just passing out candy," Rylee said. "You are fulfilling your calling. Every interaction is an opportunity to represent Jesus to someone who may not know Him yet."

Trunk or Treat gives FBC an opportunity to extend hospitality beyond the church walls. For someone who may be hesitant to attend a worship service, an outdoor community event can be an easier first encounter with the church and, through its people, with Jesus.

That encounter might last only a few minutes. A volunteer smiles. Someone learns a child's name. A family is welcomed to a trunk. A conversation begins. Those seemingly ordinary moments matter.

"I hope they experience something they can't quite put their finger on at first: genuine joy, love, kindness, and connection," Rylee said. "Ultimately, I hope what they see that's different about us is Jesus."

That's why every person at FBC has a role to play, whether donating candy, hosting a trunk, volunteering or simply extending a personal invitation.

Because success won't ultimately be measured by attendance, candy or how impressive the event looks. It will be measured in life change. "If God uses this event to change even one life, build one relationship, or bring one family closer to Him," Rylee said, "THAT is why we do this."

And if everyone at FBC invites just one family? "We would need more candy!" she said.

But it's more than just an invitation. "It's an opportunity to begin a relationship, make someone feel like they belong, and maybe even open a door for the Lord to change their life."

THERE'S A PLACE FOR YOU IN THE PARKING LOT.
Give candy. Serve a family. Host a trunk.
