Text: John 10:22-30

1. What are some things we are tempted to want Jesus to do for us? How might we sometimes want Jesus to fit our expectations rather than receive Him for who He truly is?

2. Why is our sin our greatest problem? How does remembering what Jesus has saved us from change the way we view the challenges we face today?

3. What does it look like in everyday life to hear and follow Jesus? How can we distinguish genuine struggles in following Him from a settled unwillingness to follow Him?

4. How does the promise of "no one being able to snatch His Sheep out His hand" speak to the fears, uncertainties, suffering, and losses we experience? What is the difference between believing Jesus promises a trouble-free life and trusting that He holds us through every circumstance?

5. How does understanding that Jesus shares the divine nature with the Father deepen your confidence in His promise to hold His sheep securely? How do His death and resurrection demonstrate both His love for us and His power to save us?
