1) We have a group of teachers and students coming over on Friday. Please pray that this can lead to even more opportunities this semester and next.

2) Please pray for my friend Tom. He's definitely an atheist but has been asking me more spiritual questions recently. I just hope I have the right words to show him the truth.

3) Please keep Roxie and this bus accident situation in your prayers. We received a letter from the driver this week demanding about 20,000 dollars in repairs for his windshield after he braked suddenly and Roxie flew into it. We haven't told her about it because she's been stressed trying to adjust to life in Germany. The school director met today with a friend of ours who is a lawyer about this situation. I think it will be fine but I haven't heard anything back about it so we're all on pins and needles.

Please send our greetings to everyone back home and on the mission committee. And please send our thanks and gratitude for the amazing support both financially and in prayer.

Blessings

Dan
