

Pastor Roy's Sermon on Resurrection Sunday (April 5, 2026)

—Below are questions from that lesson to further our understanding—

1. In what ways might we be unintentionally reducing God to fit our own understanding rather than allowing Him to remain in His transcendent majesty?
2. What does it truly mean to present your body as a living sacrifice in the context of your daily life and relationships?
3. How can we distinguish between merely knowing about God and having an intimate, authentic relationship with Him?
4. In what specific areas of your life is your old nature still attempting to grab the steering wheel from the Holy Spirit?
5. How does our modern approach to worship and church gatherings compare to the reverence Isaiah displayed when he encountered God's holiness?
6. What would change in your life if you fully embraced the truth that God's thoughts and ways are immeasurably higher than yours?
7. How do the three enemies of the Christian - the world, the flesh, and Satan - currently manifest themselves in your spiritual walk?
8. What does spiritual transformation through the renewal of your mind look like practically, and what barriers prevent this transformation?
9. How does understanding God's sovereign orchestration of Christ's crucifixion deepen your appreciation for the sacrifice made on your behalf?
10. In what ways are you conforming to the world's patterns rather than being transformed, and what steps can you take to reverse this?
