

Small Group Guidelines

1. Keep your sharing focused on your own thoughts, feelings, and actions. Please limit your sharing to three to five minutes.
2. There is NO cross-talk please. Cross-talk is when two people engage in a dialogue during the meeting. Each person sharing is free to express feelings without interruptions.
3. We are here to support one another. We will not attempt to “fix” one another.
4. Anonymity and confidentiality are basic requirements. What is shared in the group stays in the group. The only exception is when someone threatens to injure themselves or others.
5. Offensive language has no place in a Christ-centered recovery group.

FOOD ADDICTION

12 Steps

Exploring the Issue of Food Addiction

Characteristics of some struggling with Food Addiction may include but are not limited to:

- Throughout our lives many of us have turned to food to ease our pain or fear.
- We felt comfort in eating and found ourselves turning to food whenever we were hurt, angry, or frustrated.
- Food became our comforter, our friend.
- Some of us may have one specific food that we have trouble eating in healthy amounts, and once we start eating it, we cannot stop.
- Some of us may have been emotionally, physically, or sexually abused and use food to cope with the emotions of those events.
- Some of us may have had healthy eating habits as children or young adults, but at some point in our lives we chose to overeat and lost the ability to discern when we were physically hungry or when we were physically full.
- Some of us may have turned to food after obtaining sobriety in other areas.
- We thought food was “safe,” not realizing it could become our “drug of choice.”
- We have focused on our body image instead of our health.
- Many of us have tried various diet programs, exercising, medications, or many other ways of trying to control our eating habits.
- We have failed over and over and are left feeling guilty, incapable, and unlovable.
- We have given in to the idea that there is one perfect diet or pill out there that can save us if only we could find it.
- Some of us believe that thin people do not struggle with food addiction. We have also failed to recognize food as our “drug of choice.”
- As a result of our food addiction, we feel out of control and may struggle with many other areas of our lives.
- Some of us have low self-esteem which may affect our motivation, and our relationship with God and others.

Sobriety for Eating Disorders

Sobriety means I have not overeaten compulsively, binged/purged, starved myself/over-exercised, or engaged in any ritualistic eating pattern. Rather, I have released control of my food and way of eating to the control of God and sought to eat in a sane and healthy manner.

How We Find Recovery

Through a relationship with Jesus Christ as Savior and Higher Power, and by working through the Christ-centered 12 steps, we can find freedom from our destructive thoughts and behaviors about food.

Characteristics of someone in recovery for Food Addiction may include but are not limited to:

- We came to realize that we are powerless and could not control our addiction to food.
- We understand that our problems are emotional and spiritual.
- We are ready to face our denial and accept the truth about our lives and our food addiction.
- We are dedicated to learning about healthy eating.
- We are committed to learning the difference between physical and emotional hunger.
- We are willing to turn to God when we are not physically hungry.
- We will begin to view food as fuel for our body so that we will not eat unless we are physically hungry and stop when we are physically full.
- We realize our group provides a safe place to share our fears, hurt, or anger and is also a place to rejoice in victories.
- We are willing to take the focus off of food and focus on God.
- We recognize that recovery from food addiction is not about our body image or what foods we eat, but it is about trusting God and having an intimate relationship with Him.
- We are willing to believe and trust in God’s love for us, and to see ourselves as He sees us.
- By facing our fears, we have realized that we need Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit in our life to overcome those fears.
- As we surrender our food addiction to God, we will come to know that He is all we need.
