About the Ally Apron

This sewing pattern creates a simple apron perfect for absolute beginners. Designed with clean lines and a relaxed fit, it features adjustable straps for a comfortable, customizable wear. Easy to sew and endlessly practical, this apron is ideal for cooking, crafting, gardening, or gifting. Its straightforward construction makes it a quick, satisfying project with a practical use.

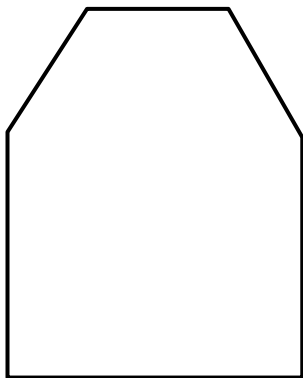

Step 1: cut out the fabric

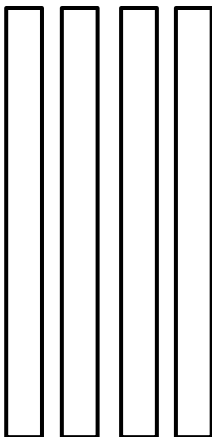

Print and cut out the pattern.

Place the pieces on your desired fabric and cut out the pieces.

Fabric in total:

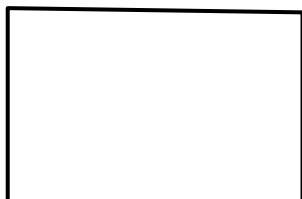

Main piece x1

Strap piece x4

Note: the strap's final measurement will be around 120 inch / 3 meters. You can cut as many strap pieces as you would like and combine them as explained in the instructions.

(Optional) Pocket x 1

In this example, the pocket is 15.5 x 12.5 inches (40 x 31 cm).

Step 2: hem top and sides

Hem the top and sides of the apron.

You do this by folding the fabric on itself enclosing the raw hem.

Then sew a straight stitch at 3/8 inch (1 cm) seam allowance.

Step 3: hem bottom

Hem the bottom of the apron. You do this by folding the fabric on itself enclosing the raw hem.

Then sew a straight stitch at 3/8 inch (1 cm) seam allowance.

Step 4: prep straps

To make one long strap with the strap pieces, pin the ends together on the right side and combine the fabric pieces on a diagonal like shown in the photo.

Then sew a straight stitch where the red line is shown.

Cut the excess seam allowance and iron open the seam.

Note: we combine the fabric pieces by sewing them together on the diagonal to spread out the fabric of the hem. This makes the area where the fabric is connected less bulky.

Step 5: prep strap

Iron 1/4 inch (0.64 cm) of the edge of strap piece towards the wrong side.

Tip: for a clean and professional finish on the ends, fold each edge with right sides facing each other. Then sew a straight stitch at the end as displayed in the below photo. Trim excess seam allowance. Then fold on the right side.

Step 6: sew strap

Fold the strap in half and pin.

Sew a straight stitch along the edge of the strap perimeter on both sides.

Step 7: sew strap channel

Fold the diagonal edge of the apron first 1/4 inch (0.64 cm) then 1.25 inch (3.18 cm) towards the wrong side.

Then sew this on place.

Step 8: insert strap

Insert the strap in each of the channels with a large safety pin.

Step 9: (optional) prep pocket

You can add a pocket to your apron by cutting a rectangle of your desired size. In this example, the pocket is 15.5 x 12.5 inches (40 x 31 cm).

Then fold the hem in on itself hiding the raw hem. Then sew a straight stitch at 3/8 inch (1 cm) seam allowance, first at the top and bottom, then the sides.

Step 10: (optional) attach pocket

Attach the pocket to your apron in your desired area.

In this example, the pocket is attached 4.5 inches (11.5 cm) from the side and 5.5 inches (14) from the bottom.
