

An Invitation to Pray with Us: 28 Days of Dynamite Prayer

This month, United Methodists across the Mountain Sky Conference are joining Bishop Kristin Stoneking in a 28-day journey of prayer using Dynamite Prayer: A 28 Day Experiment by Rosario Picardo and Sue Nilson Kibbey.

Bishop Kristin's invitation is an opportunity to make space amid full lives to become more attentive to God, to one another, and to what may be emerging among us. Prayer does not require certainty or having the right words. It can begin simply with a willingness to become present, to listen, to wonder, and to notice. We trust that God is already present and at work in our lives and in the world—inviting us toward greater love, healing, justice, and wholeness.

Bishop Kristin's question for the first week is:

What might become possible if I make space for God?

And perhaps we can widen the question as we pray together:

What might become possible for St. Andrew, for our community, and for our world if we make space for God?

Over these 28 days, we invite you to join UWFaith, others in the St. Andrew community, and our siblings throughout the Mountain Sky Conference in prayer, using Dynamite Prayer as a daily guide or simply carrying this week's question with you as you move through your ordinary routines.

Wherever you find yourself on the journey of faith—grounded in belief, asking questions, reconstructing what faith means, or simply curious—we hope you will join us. Research suggests that shared intentional practices can deepen our connection to one another.

Books will be available in the St. Andrew Book Alcove.
