Virginia voters will consider Question 1, a proposed constitutional amendment concerning reproductive freedom, on November 3. The official ballot language addresses decisions involving prenatal care, childbirth, postpartum care, contraception, abortion, miscarriage management, and fertility care.

Local physicians experienced in high risk pregnancy are convening faith leaders, and community leaders for a respectful educational Zoom town hall. Participants can review the official text, ask questions, hear our coalition’s reasons for opposing the amendment, and learn about practical support networks for mothers and families.

If you are a healthcare professional, faith leader, nonprofit leader, educator, or employer who values informed civic engagement, please join us and consider sharing this invitation with your network.
