

Spencer Lenfield -Class of 2005. (Graduate of Harvard University, a Rhodes Scholar, Oxford University. Currently in his 5th year of graduate school at Yale where he is working on a doctoral dissertation on Korean literature.)

“ I’m so grateful for the excellent memory skills and cultural literacy I learned from Trinity. Trinity gave me an especially excellent early education in the arts: music, visual arts, languages, and literature. I arrived at high school well prepared for how to study and work hard, and those skills carried me through college and onward. “