

LifeGroup Meeting

The Overwhelming Hospitality of God
Guest Speaker: Robert Jackman

Get To Know You Question:

If you could invite any three people, living or dead, over for dinner, who would you choose?

Let's Dig Deeper

Someone read Psalms 23:5. Spend some time and share some key words that spoke out to you while reading. What is it about those words that spoke to you?

1. What is the difference between being allowed into someone's home and feeling truly welcomed there?
2. Read Psalm 23:5. What stands out to you about the setting God chooses for this meal?
3. When you picture God welcoming you to His table, what makes it easy or difficult to believe He wants you there?
4. How might sharing a meal with someone communicate care in a way that words alone cannot?
5. Read Psalm 34:8. What might it look like to move from hearing about God's goodness to experiencing it personally?
6. Where do you tend to look for refuge when life becomes overwhelming?
7. How does the image of God preparing a table challenge the idea that we have to earn His attention?
8. Read Psalm 31:19. How might this description of God's goodness shape the way you face an uncertain future?
9. In the hospitality described in the message, oil expressed welcome and care. What helps you recognize God's personal care in your own life?
10. What makes it difficult to enjoy God's gifts when there are still unresolved problems around you?

11. Read Psalm 36:7–8. How does this passage expand your understanding of what God offers those who come to Him?
12. When have you experienced God's generosity through another person's hospitality?
13. What is the difference between receiving God's abundance with gratitude and expecting Him to give us everything we want?
14. Read Psalm 23:5 again. How does the overflowing cup challenge a mindset of constantly fearing there will not be enough?
15. What could you do this week to help someone experience the kind of welcome God extends to you?
16. How have you been a blessing to someone this week? Share.

Close in Prayer.
