

“COME JUST AS YOU ARE, HEAR THE SPIRIT CALL”

Our KSDA family invites you to join us in worshipping God and giving praises to Him. We are honored by your presence and pray for a blessing to be upon you and your family.

You show that you are a letter from Christ, the result of our ministry, written not with ink but with the Spirit of the living God, not on tablets of stone but on tablets of human hearts. Such confidence we have through Christ before God. Not that we are competent in ourselves to claim anything for ourselves, but our competence comes from God. II Corinthians 3:3 - 5

The Nominating Committee will be available to hear any such concerns on Tuesday, October 29, at 6:00 p.m. Please approach this process prayerfully and in a spirit of Christian love, seeking the good of the church and those involved.—

Angie is currently out of town, so if you have found the Bible or know its whereabouts, please return it to Laurie. Thank you for your help in locating this treasured keepsake.

OTTER COVER Other than their similar habitats, Otters and Beavers have no similarities whatsoever. While Otters are large, carnivorous mammals, Beavers are semi-aquatic rodents who strictly follow a vegetarian lifestyle. Otters have a long, slim, and glossy body like that of seals, whereas Beavers have a rounded body like other rodents. Beavers weigh about twice as much as Otters, and live twice as long, too. The tails of these two animals are very different from each other. Otters have a long and pointed tail, while the tail of a Beaver is flat, broad, and oval-shaped. Both Otters and Beavers have a specific mating season, but while Beavers are monogamous and reproduce with their partners, Otters look for a new partner every season. Otter’s offspring is called pup and is born without being fully matured, while Kit, the Beaver’s younger one, is fully matured when it is born.
