2026 May

May was a month of growth, momentum, and meaningful engagement across the Global Unites network. From community-led peacebuilding initiatives and youth leadership development programs to school engagements, volunteer trainings, and regional partnerships, country chapters continued to create opportunities for young people to connect, learn, and lead. This month saw the launch of a new cohort of the Global Unites Master Trainer Academy (GUMTA), the expansion of Peace Clubs, increased community outreach efforts, and preparations for major initiatives such as the Future Leaders Conference. Global Unites Headquarters also launched Mage Rata, a new podcast series exploring Sri Lankan identity through conversations with influential leaders from diverse sectors. Across every chapter, young people continued to demonstrate the power of dialogue, service, and collective action in building stronger, more inclusive communities. Together, these efforts reflect Global Unites' ongoing commitment to nurturing a generation of leaders dedicated to peace, unity, and positive social transformation.

UGANDA UNITES

"Youth Leading Change Across Communities"

Uganda Unites maintained strong momentum throughout May through community service, youth leadership development, and conference planning. Volunteers organized three community clean-up projects and facilitated local engagements that brought together young people from diverse backgrounds. The chapter also conducted volunteer training sessions and regional meetings to strengthen leadership skills and community impact. Preparations for the Future Leaders Conference (FLC) advanced significantly, including partnership meetings and venue confirmation. A major achievement was securing a partnership with Viva College in Jinja, which agreed to host the conference. Uganda Unites also continued promoting youth voices through community discussions and online engagement platforms.

TESTIMONIAL

Onen George,
Former Volunteer and Current Minister of Internal Affairs

"Uganda Unites played a significant role in shaping my leadership journey. The mentorship, opportunities, and practical experience I received helped build my confidence and commitment to serving others. Today, I continue to apply the values and leadership principles I learned through Uganda Unites in my role as Minister of Internal Affairs."

KENYA UNITES

Reaching Thousands of Young Leaders

Kenya Unites reached thousands of young people during May through leadership, peacebuilding, and youth participation initiatives. The chapter engaged approximately 3,500 students from more than 50 schools during a major school assembly, providing opportunities to discuss youth leadership, peacebuilding, and civic responsibility.

The team also launched applications for the Master Trainers Program and began preparations for the Future Leaders Conference. Through partnerships with EPI, MPK, and other organizations, Kenya Unites continued empowering young people to participate in decision-making processes while promoting dialogue and collaboration among youth from different backgrounds.

AFGHANISTAN UNITES

Afghanistan Unites continued strengthening youth leadership and peacebuilding efforts throughout May. The chapter held engagement sessions with graduates of the Global Unites Master Trainers Academy (GUMTA), discussing Peace Club implementation, community projects, and leadership development opportunities. Significant progress was also made in translating the Global Unites Guidebook and Peace Club resources into Persian to make training more accessible to local communities.

A key milestone was the establishment of three new Peace Clubs by Master Trainers, laying the foundation for future youth-led initiatives. Preparations also advanced for Platform NextGen, with outreach efforts beginning among schools ahead of the competition launch. Through leadership development, capacity building, and grassroots peacebuilding initiatives, Afghanistan Unites continues to empower young people to become active contributors to positive change within their communities.

TESTIMONIAL

"The Master Trainers Academy was more than a training program. It was a journey of self-discovery and growth. It taught me that even small actions, when driven by genuine intention, can create meaningful change. The experience challenged me to think deeply about my purpose and responsibility as a young leader."

LIBERIA UNITES

Inspiring Service Through Creativity and Leadership

Liberia Unites continued expanding its school and community outreach efforts during May through leadership activities, volunteer engagement, and creative learning programs. The chapter conducted school visits, career guidance sessions, Peace Club activities, and partnership engagements with local organizations and faith communities.

A standout moment was a creative arts activity at Honoree Preparatory School, where volunteers worked with students to develop artistic skills while promoting teamwork, confidence, and self-expression. These activities created positive learning experiences and strengthened relationships between volunteers and young people.

TESTIMONIAL

Mark Teld, Student Volunteer

"Joining Liberia Unites has been one of the greatest experiences of my life. Serving alongside other volunteers has allowed me to pursue my passion for helping others while building meaningful friendships. Wearing the Liberia Unites uniform and contributing to my community makes me proud and motivates me to continue serving."

COUNTRY CHAPTER SPOTLIGHTS

NEPAL UNITES

Nepal Unites focused on leadership development, planning, and youth empowerment throughout May. The Future Leaders Conference Organizing Committee held important planning meetings covering logistics, fundraising, partnerships, and participant engagement. The team officially confirmed the conference dates for November 20–23, 2026.

The chapter also celebrated youth leadership by awarding a small grant to Samir Pariyar, winner of the Gender Equality Champion title through the Champions of Change South Asia Competition. The grant will support his work promoting dignified menstruation and gender equality initiatives.

TESTIMONIAL

Samir Pariyar
Champions of Change Winner - Gender Equality Category

"Being recognized as a Gender Equality Champion is deeply meaningful, but the greatest reward has been becoming part of the Global Unites family. This support strengthens our work on dignified menstruation and reminds us that local efforts are connected to a global movement for justice and equality."

INDIA UNITES

India Unites and the Indian Pluralism Foundation continued advancing interfaith dialogue, youth leadership, and community engagement throughout May. Young peace activists participated in the Master Trainers Workshop while selected youth joined the AI-based IRTIQA learning initiative designed for underprivileged communities in Kolkata.

The chapter actively promoted pluralistic values by participating in Rabindranath Tagore Jayanti celebrations, interfaith gatherings, Buddha Jayanti discussions, and community events encouraging collaboration across religious groups. India Unites was also recognized for its contribution to peacebuilding and social harmony during a special ceremony commemorating 200 years of Hindi journalism.

SOUTH SUDAN UNITES

South Sudan Unites achieved several important milestones during May as the chapter continued establishing its presence and expanding community engagement. The organization successfully completed its registration process, launched its official website, and created social media platforms to strengthen outreach and visibility. The team conducted school visits to introduce young people to leadership and peacebuilding initiatives while also organizing a cultural exchange event that celebrated South Sudan's rich diversity through traditional food and community dialogue. Planning for the official launch of South Sudan Unites also progressed during the month.

TESTIMONIAL

Member
South Sudan Unites

"Being part of South Sudan Unites has helped me grow as a leader and better understand the importance of teamwork, community engagement, and non-violence. Through the organization, I have learned how peace and unity can help build stronger communities for everyone."

Building a Stronger Sri Lanka Together.

Seventeen years after the end of the civil war, we have a choice:
repeat the past or build the future.

A national initiative to develop a policy framework on Youth, National Unity, Justice, and Healing.

We choose the future.

An inclusive, just and peaceful Sri Lanka, shaped by empowered young leaders.

We share our vision and the way forward for a more united, just and healed Sri Lanka.

Global Unites officially launched a nationwide youth-led policy initiative recently aimed at advancing national unity, justice, social cohesion, and youth development in Sri Lanka at a special press conference held in Colombo.

The initiative brings together emerging civil society leaders under the age of 45 from diverse ethnic, religious, regional, and political backgrounds to collaboratively shape a forward-looking national agenda for the country. Designed as a platform for meaningful engagement and action, the initiative seeks to ensure that the voices of Millennials and Gen Z are placed at the centre of national transformation.

During the press conference, Global Unites introduced a series of proposed policy recommendations developed through extensive consultation, research, and youth engagement efforts focused on building a more inclusive, peaceful, and equitable future for all Sri Lankans.

The recommendations are centred around three key national priorities. The first is Youth Development and Advancement, which calls for a comprehensive long-term strategy to address the structural challenges facing young people while expanding access to education, employment, entrepreneurship, and global opportunities. It also aims to equip youth to become innovative, resilient, and globally connected citizens while fostering leadership, civic participation, and social mobility across communities.

The second focus area is National Unity, Justice and Social Cohesion. These recommendations emphasise building an inclusive and shared Sri Lankan identity, strengthening trust across ethnic, religious, and regional communities, and promoting democratic participation, justice, and social healing to create a peaceful and thriving society for future generations.

The third area addresses Grievances and Structural Inequalities through a transformative framework that seeks to respond meaningfully to historic and present-day grievances, inequality, exclusion, and marginalisation. The goal is to promote restorative justice, equitable development, and a stronger sense of dignity, belonging, and opportunity for all communities.

Global Unites also announced a nationwide regional consultation process engaging young voices across Sri Lanka, alongside the launch of a national youth survey focused on aspirations, grievances, employment, and social cohesion.

Additional initiatives unveiled included 'Platform Next Gen', a national oratory competition designed to amplify youth voices, and the 'Mage Rata' interview series, which will feature diverse Sri Lankan perspectives on national transformation. Opportunities for volunteers and partners to support outreach, media, research, and youth engagement efforts were also introduced.

At the conclusion of the process, the final policy proposal is expected to be formally presented to national leaders including the President, Prime Minister, Minister of Justice, Minister of Youth Affairs, Leader of the Opposition, and leaders of major political parties. The proposal will also be shared with the United Nations and international partners supporting reconciliation, justice, and youth development efforts in Sri Lanka.

Global Unites President and Founder Prashan de Visser stated that this initiative presents a rare opportunity to unite principled leaders and young people around a shared vision for a just, inclusive, and peaceful Sri Lanka.

He emphasised that meaningful national transformation can only be achieved when young people are given both a voice and a seat at the table, adding that this initiative is designed to create sustainable pathways for inclusive dialogue, policy reform, and long-term reconciliation.

Members of the media, civil society representatives, youth leaders, development partners, and interested stakeholders were invited to be part of the movement as Global Unites continues to drive youth-led national progress.

through the cracks. Lost sheep I call them. So, I say let's do this for them! Let's win this for them! Let's change the world for them! Today the youth need to be given a voice and a seat at the table. In order to create a stronger country, the youth need to be given a voice. Let's create heroes.

Today's youth will decide the fate of millions and billions in the future. They will decide the final outcome. The world is filled with homeless people and people living in extreme poverty. The youth can change all of that and bring prosperity. The youth can put an end to War and violence. The youth can work together and heal those with medical conditions. So many have struggled for change in history. Is their sacrifice in vain? So don't hang your head in defeat. You are the youth. You can create change! Together you stand!

Additional initiatives unveiled include 'Platform Next Gen', a national oratory competition designed to amplify youth voices, and the 'Mage Rata' interview series, which will feature diverse Sri Lankan perspectives on national transformation. Opportunities for volunteers and partners to support outreach, the youth to promote their agenda. There must be a focus on Justice and harmony. There is much to learn here. There must be a national policy here as well. Here our Sri Lankan identity and unity must be celebrated. Let us not repeat our mistakes, but learn from the past, and learn from each other says De Visser.

Global Unites Member, Chaminda Jayasekara, added that Global Unites always tries to promote a Sri Lanka with an "inclusive identity". This means a united Sri Lanka. "We are doing all of this for our youth. Even though the civil war is over, our country still bears those scars and hurts. It has left deep marks on Sri Lankan society. I feel the tensions still persist, and I feel that a united Sri Lankan identity, harmony and sustainable peace has not reached the ground level yet. Here the youth can play an important role in bringing change," said Jayasekara.

Here there needs to be a dialogue. There needs to be discussion. There needs to be an exchange of ideas amongst the youth at the grassroots level, e.g. "how do we build this country?" Jayasekara here pointed out that education is a necessity. It is important for the youth to understand what they need to do in order to bring about real social change and stop the repetition of mistakes. They need to understand what their responsibilities are. They need to understand what issues

GLOBAL UNITES MASTER TRAINERS ACADEMY

Welcome New 2026 Cohort

Global Unites officially launched the 2026 cohort of the Global Unites Master Trainer Academy (GUMTA), bringing together a diverse group of emerging youth leaders, peacebuilders, and changemakers committed to creating positive change within their communities.

As one of Global Unites' flagship leadership development initiatives, GUMTA provides participants with an immersive virtual learning experience focused on reconciliation and conflict transformation, youth leadership and character development, non-violence, and grassroots movement building. Through interactive learning sessions, mentorship opportunities, and peer collaboration, participants are equipped with the practical skills and knowledge needed to become effective trainers and community leaders.

This year's cohort reflects the growing global interest in leadership development rooted in peacebuilding, social cohesion, and social justice. Young leaders from multiple countries have joined the program, bringing diverse perspectives, experiences, and aspirations to the learning journey.

The launch of the new cohort marks another important milestone in Global Unites' mission to invest in the next generation of leaders. Over the coming months, participants will engage in meaningful dialogue, develop leadership competencies, and design initiatives aimed at creating lasting impact in their communities.

By empowering young people to lead with courage, empathy, and purpose, GUMTA continues to build a growing network of leaders dedicated to advancing peace, understanding, and positive social transformation around the world.
