

CODY MOORE
Student Pastor

Hello Northside family and friends, Fall is here! Well, except the cooler weather. School is in full swing, which means football, band, cheer, dance teams, and Friday Night Lights. I love this time of year. The one downside to all this, is that we are all very busy. As a parent of four, it seems like some days are divide and conquer or just survive the day. We jump from thing to thing with our own kids, and love the memories we are making. I love seeing our Northside kids and students doing the things that they love. If you are through these exciting years with your family, please pray for us that are living them right now. For the ones that are pulling the late nights and many hours of games and driving, enjoy it. We only have a few short years of this, and our kids grow up so fast.

Last summer I started working on our Read, Reflect, Respond (RRR) Bible Study through the book of James. For the past forty-three days we have been studying small chunks of scripture each day, and asking our students to commit to reading God's Word. Every day around seven in the morning a video drops on our Youtube channel and Facebook page to help students do the RRR. It has been fun seeing students come on Wednesday Night when we take those chunks of scripture and dive into them, looking back to what we started reading each Thursday. I am not sure how many are doing this study but it seems like we have a few that have taken the challenge. I hope that they are seeing the importance of being in God's Word daily. We will continue James until the end of October, then move to the Sermon on the Mount for November and December.

With this RRR Bible Study we have had theme nights every Wednesday. My favorite was this past week when my son dressed up like Dean, and another student dressed up like me, with a bald cap and fake beard. It was great. The funny thing is they thought Dean and I were a famous duo. I tell you all of this to say, our youth ministry is diving into the word each week, growing, and affecting lives. Keep praying for our students, their families, and the leaders of the youth group. We have the best group of adults leading. Keep praying. Keep encouraging.

One more thing... RAD Weekend is the last weekend in January, and we have five churches that will take part. It is going to be a big weekend. I hope to have some opportunities for all of us to serve, but right now we are looking for host homes and co-host homes. If you are interested please reach out to me.

Thank you church for allowing us to serve alongside of you for the Kingdom.
