Come and See

MONDAY · DECEMBER 14
READ Luke 2:13-20

When the shepherds heard the announcement, they went to Bethlehem to see what God had made known. Afterward, they returned glorifying and praising Him. Their joy moved in two directions: toward Jesus in wonder and outward toward others in witness. We may not witness angels in the sky, but we have the reliable testimony of God's Word. We are invited to behold the same Savior by faith. Advent should not leave us merely better informed about Christmas traditions. It should draw us into worship and lead us to speak naturally about the One who has come. You do not need a polished speech. You can begin by sharing why Jesus is good news to you.

REFLECT

Who could you encourage this week with something true about Jesus?

PRAY

Lord, turn our wonder into worship and our worship into joyful witness.
