

IT DOESN'T TAKE MUCH

Wave: verb, “to move one’s hand to and fro in greeting or as a signal” When 84-year-old Tinney Davidson and her husband, Ken, moved to Comox, British Columbia in 2007, they noticed that teenagers walked by their house every morning on their way to school. So the Davidsons waved at them. And the kids waved back. Ken passed away a few years ago, but Tinney keeps waving at the children every morning and every afternoon. She loves it. And they love her.

On Valentine’s Day, the school decided to thank Mrs. Davidson for her interest in them. They made a video presentation, presented her with a gift bag, and told her how much they appreciated her. One student explained it simply: “You can always count on her to be that warm smile on a dreary day.” Mrs. Davidson could not adopt those children, give them money, or do their school work for them. But she did what she could do: She just waved at them. By committing herself to being a daily encourager, Tinney Davidson brightened the lives of hundreds of teenagers.

The world is filled with negativity. Information is easily accessible today through social media and 24-hour news, which gives us so many more opportunities to criticize. But faultfinding is not a fruit of the Spirit. We don’t need more naysayers...we need more YAY-sayers. We need more Barnabases. We need more back patters and huggers. We need to rejoice more with those who rejoice. Tinney Davidson is not long for this world, but her simple gesture will resonate in the lives of those teenagers for years to come. “Let no unwholesome word proceed from your mouth, but only such a word as is good for edification...” (Eph. 4:29).
