A Sermon By Pastor John Riggs

REVIEW last week:

Summary

What does it truly mean to live as a child of God in a world that seems to grow darker by the day? Last week's message took us deep into the reality of spiritual warfare, reminding us that the moment we get serious about prayer, fasting, and advancing God's kingdom, we can expect opposition. But here is the truth that changes everything: the enemy has no authority and no power over those who belong to Christ. God delivers us from the domain of darkness and transfers us into the kingdom of His beloved Son, which assures us that the evil one cannot have mastery over those born of God, we are grounded in the reality of our position in Christ. The spiritual warfare we face is not a sign that we are losing. It is a sign that we have entered the battle and are being recognized as a threat to the kingdom of darkness.

Key Points

- Christ holds all authority in heaven and on earth, and His power is demonstrated supremely in the resurrection, His current position at the Father's right hand, and His coming return.
- Daniel chapter 10 reveals that behind the kingdoms and empires of the world stand spiritual principalities, fallen angelic beings who serve Satan and oppose God's purposes and people.
- The return of Christ will be a visible, physical event accompanied by a trumpet blast, the resurrection of the dead in Christ, and the transformation of living believers, all occurring at the Mount of Olives

Key Passages of Scripture:

- Ephesians 1:15-23, which speaks of the immeasurable greatness of God's power toward believers and Christ's position far above all rule, authority, power, and dominion.
- Colossians 1:13, which describes God delivering believers from the domain of darkness and transferring them into the kingdom of His beloved Son.
- 1 John 5:18-20, which teaches that the one born of God is protected by God and that the evil one does not have mastery over the believer
