Dear Friends,

As I write this, Cassie and I are about an hour from touching down in Atlanta. Our hearts are full, and honestly, words seem inadequate to express how deeply we were moved by our recent missions trip to Brazil.

We had the privilege of visiting several churches planted by MWBM missionaries, along with works that have been started out of those churches. What we witnessed was New Testament missions right before our very eyes! We saw the Gospel bearing fruit, churches being established, and those churches reaching others with the message of Christ.

But alongside the rejoicing came a tremendous burden. As exciting as it was to see what God is doing, we were reminded of the many towns and communities across Brazil where there is still no Gospel witness. There are multitudes who have yet to hear the good news of Jesus Christ.

We are coming home with a greater burden than ever to reach Brazil with the Gospel. One question continues to echo in my heart:

Who will reach the world with the Gospel? Who will go? Who will give, that men might live in Christ today?

Cassie and I could never have made this trip without you. Your prayers and financial support allowed us to go, and we are deeply grateful for your partnership in this great missions endeavor.

May God help us all to keep our eyes on the fields, our hearts burdened for souls, and our hands faithfully serving until Jesus comes!
