

Praise the Lord:

1. Good responses and attendance at the services
2. The quick passing of Liz Patton into glory

Please Pray for:

1. Bob has been asked to do a workshop at a weekend conference on suicide and grief
2. Chairs for the church
3. Bob Patton, as he adjusts to life without his wife.
4. Spouses for our two girls
5. Victory over addictions and things that keep people from Church.
6. Continued funding for a plow truck for next season. Thanks to those who have given so far.

1 Thessalonians 5:18a "In everything give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you."

This is the time of the year when everyone wishes the snow away! There is still a couple of feet of snow in our yard, and huge melting snowbanks everywhere. The driveways are mushy and easy to get bogged down in. Someone said, once the snow is gone, then come the bugs. Are we ever satisfied? We should always give thanks in everything. . .

This past month brought about several deaths in our community and north of here. Three of them were young women who had questionable deaths. Lost hope or made a wrong decision. It's so hard on those left behind. So many die without knowing Jesus, and that makes this so hard. We officiated at two other funerals on the reserve. So, yes, that makes five funerals in March. Some of the family of the elder who passed talked about telling her grandma about Jesus before she died. That really is the opportunity at any funeral. The grief was so great that a grandson cut off his ponytail right in front of the church and laid it in the casket. In native culture, it shows great sorrow in his loss. As far as we may know, it was a great loss in eternity.

Special Kids:

This young man ended up by himself at Safe Zone. We were able to spend one-on-one time and give him the Gospel. We know his grandmother, who is a believer, but he has never heard the real truth about the Gospel. Safe Zone is sometimes the only place for these kids to hear the Gospel. Please pray for us.

On a brighter note, we had a great Resurrection Service with several visitors. One lady came by the house later to get a Bible and talk about her need to understand how to become a Christian. Unfortunately, she left saying she would read the scriptures and think about it. Please pray for Lizzy.

Cindy used her Resurrection Egg story in Sunday School and Safe Zone to talk about Jesus's Death and Resurrection. Some of the kids remember, but most of them were on their first time.

Two different times this month, there was only one child who came. That is unusual, but an opportunity to give the Gospel in more detail.

We started a few new things at the church. First, we decided to have the Lord's supper every month that has 5 Sundays. So, March 29 was one of those dates.

Secondly, Bob decided to have a double service once a month in order to do more teaching. We felt it went well, and there is an interest in what he is doing. During that time, Cindy shows a Bible video in the first service for the kids and then a regular lesson in the second service. We decided to have soup and rolls between the services to encourage attendance.
