To Everything, there is a Season. . . .

Everything is so beautiful and green this time of the year! People are busy fishing and picking blueberries. There is a chill in the air at night and a few small bushes are changing their colour. To everything, there is a season.

Just an update on the tent meeting in July: One lady was saved. We saw her later at the memorial for her father and she said, "it's been 10 days since I have come to Christ." We were able to get her address and plan to see her soon. The workshops went well and were even broadcast on the local radio station. A Lady named Nancy attended the workshops and has been coming to church ever since. Bob has been asked to present more workshops at another native conference in October. We count it a great privilege to be asked. Right after the tent meetings, we travelled to Minnesota to meet up with friends and then baptize 4 family members. The young girl at the bottom has been asking to do this for some time. It is exciting to see family take steps in the right direction. It was a busy time, but we did some bike riding for about 100km. We hope to do some more before it gets too cold.

Bob continues to disciple a young couple via Zoom. Cindy then started disciplining her two great nieces on Mondays via Zoom. They seem to enjoy meeting and have a desire to read their Bibles and do the worksheets.

The past couple of Fridays we have been going to the reserve to pass out the packets we made with information on us, the Church, counselling, and a CD

Special Kids:

School kids are now on Summer break so no safe zone through the summer. Many kids head out to camps and trips. I will take a break from this section until we start up in September again.

about a native man who came to know Christ.

During our first visit, we saw a lady come to know Christ. We had visited her a long time ago when she asked for someone to come and pray for her. She came to church recently and asked us to come again. Please pray for Waylona.

The mobile home trailer that was beside the church has been taken away and there are plans to build a 20 x 24 addition as a multipurpose room. We are praying that will get started and finished so we can start holding Sunday school for any kids that come. We think this will encourage families to come to church.

After 5 years of living in our new house, it's time to repaint several rooms, particularly where the kids spend most of their time.

We also started to work on the woodshed. We think we can get by with 2 cords this year since we are switching out one of the wood stoves for a propane stove. Please pray we can get the necessary persons here to install and inspect the stove before we need the heat. These services aren't readily available in our area so many time there is a waiting list.

Thank you so much for taking the time to read this letter and even more so if you will stop and pray over our needs.

Bob and Cindy Rasmussen
