

Small Group Ministries - Steve Gladden

Now that summer is approaching, many small groups will be taking a break from meeting. It's still important to keep relationships going. Here are a few suggestions from The Essential Guide for Small Group Leaders and a few from us.

Attend Church Together -

Meet before service, sit together, and hang out in the courtyard or have coffee together after the service. Introduce your group to your friends and vice versa.

Serve @ Church Together -

Turn your small group into a serving team and you'll double the time you enjoy together. Serve at church, LaMesa, Tempe Table or find a community service.

Go Out Together -

Enjoy dessert, coffee, dinner, shopping, a show, the theater, or a sporting event. There is no shortage of great options.

Plan a Road Trip -

Start with a one day or weekend trip. Carpool so you have fun together on the journey. Stay up late, play games, and build memories.

Go on a Mission Trip Together -

In the states or overseas, if your group serves on a mission trip together, you will forge deep connections.

MORE CG SUMMER TIPS

Go on a Retreat Together -

Plan a weekend or one day retreat and establish new goals for your group or create your own agenda.

Celebrate Holidays Together -

As your group becomes family, do the things a family does: carve pumpkins, decorate cookies, dye Easter eggs, go to a parade, eat a meal together, have a party.

Share Family Pictures of Special Events or Family Trips with your Group -

Send pictures of special events and trips via email or texts with your group.

Make Phone Calls, Send Cards or Notes -

Let those in your group know you're thinking about them and praying for them. Continue to share prayer requests or needs you or others might have.
