

CASWELL REFLECTIONS

Ian Cash: Before we left for Caswell, I was really excited for the new people who came with us. I really enjoyed strengthening my relationship with both my friends and God. My favorite parts about Caswell are singing the songs and seeing how many people got saved by God.

Molly Hughes: To me, Caswell has shown me how to be a better Christian. This week, I was saved. I don't mean I was baptized, but that Jesus spoke through me like he has never done before. I've made many friends this week and they were like me, lost and not knowing where to start; but this week I found the way and I'm very blessed for that.

Cameron Joyner: My favorite part was seeing all these people come to worship together.

Kara Cash: Caswell is a wonderful place to get closer to God. There are many ways you can build your relationship with God at Caswell, but my favorite is the skits. This can help you visualize situations that others may be in, or maybe even yourself. The skits can show how to help someone in trouble or how you can get help.

Camille Mitchell: My favorite thing about Caswell is the music because of how powerful it is. The funning up to the stage is also one of my favorites, and how everyone is just so connected. I also love how you can meet a complete stranger but have such a strong bond in a matter of seconds.

Brayden Wood: My favorite thing about Caswell is the track time and squad wars, ocean, on top of the house and the view at the pier.
