One of the wonderful things about Judaism is that it honors women as well as men.

In this week's Parsha named to honor Sara, Abraham's wife we find that Sara has died at the age of 127 years old.

Abraham loved his wife so much that he wanted to honor her with a permanent resting place and so for the first time in the Bible we read about Abraham buying land so that he owned property in the Promised Land.

In other words because Abraham loved and honored his wife Sara so much Israel has a right of ownership of the land. How cool is that?
