LIFE

People helping people live out the unexpected love of Jesus every day.

This morning, we finish our journey through the Song of Songs. I first want to thank the church for your encouragement and kindness during our Beloved series. It has been a great blessing to hear about how the Song has surprised you, challenged you, and moved you in ways that you didn't expect. It has done the same for me. Praise the Lord for His Word!

One goal I set when we began was to study the Song as thoroughly as I know how, while trying not to impose a particular interpretive framework on it. I wanted to let the story of the Song itself drive my interpretation and the direction of the messages. I had never seen or understood the narrative flow of the Song before this series, and I have come away with a much deeper appreciation for its beauty, mystery, and inspiration.

I also admit that perhaps this study of the Song wasn't exactly your "cup of tea." There's no escaping the fact that the Song is clearly about romantic love, and that might not feel particularly relevant to you at this point in your life for whatever reason. I was very convicted that where we could, we needed to connect the teaching of the Song to other relationships in our lives, such as family, friends, and the church. I hope that those connections have been a blessing to you. Thanks for sticking it out!

And finally, I wanted to be clear that we can see the Gospel in the Song, even though God is not directly mentioned, and even though it's an Old Testament wisdom poem about romantic love. We don't have to allegorize the Song in order to see how it points us to Jesus. My prayer is that God has used our time in the Song to call people to Himself, to save their souls, and to help us all to see the incredible love that He has proven through giving His Son so that we could be saved.

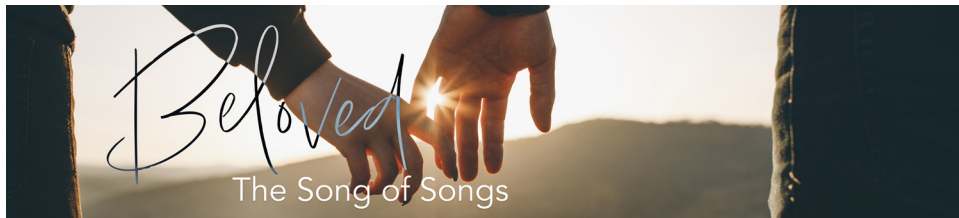

Thanks for being a part of this journey, and for being such a wonderful church family!

Blessings,
Bill
