LIFE

People helping people live out the unexpected love of Jesus every day.

Political unrest, social unrest, spiritual unrest. What is rocking your world right now? As Christians, we know that we need to trust God with everything, but sometimes our relationship with Him is out of alignment.

Consider Psalms 62. David begins by saying, "I am at rest in God alone" (verse 1). Resting in God reflects David's trust in God alone. David continues, "my salvation comes from Him. He alone is my rock and my salvation, my stronghold; I will never be shaken" (verse 2). In verses 5 and 6, David's words have slightly different emphasis. "Rest in God alone, my soul, for my hope comes from Him. He alone is my rock and my salvation, my stronghold; I will not be shaken." David's rest is a soulful peace and hope that the world cannot provide. It is a hope that only comes from dependence on God. "My salvation and glory depend on God, my strong rock. My refuge is in God" (verse 7). In verse 8, David's words shift into an invitation for others to rest in the Lord: "Trust in Him at all times, you people; pour out your hearts before Him. God is our refuge."

If you read verses 3-4, David describes lying, treacherous enemies who attack and plot to tear him down. In verses 9-10, He depicts the futility of trusting social status, worldly desire of ill-gotten gain, and wealth. Despite his enemies, social status, or worldly desires, David declares that he is at rest, trusting God alone in everything.

David ends with a poetic emphasis of dependence on God. "God has spoken once; I have heard this twice: strength belongs to God, and faithful love belongs to you, Lord. For You repay each according to his works" (Verses 11-12).

Therefore, no matter what might be rocking your world right now, rest in God alone. He is the Rock. Trust Him alone in everything.

Blessings, Michael
