LIFE

People helping people live out the unexpected love of Jesus every day.

You have heard that God cares about you. So much, in fact, that He sent His Son to save you from sin and its consequences.

But God not only cares about you; He also cares about the things you care about. The things you think about—He is thinking about them. The things you invest your heart in—His heart is there, too.

You probably don't believe that. I didn't. We think, and not entirely without reason, that part of our human weakness is preoccupation with things that don't ultimately matter. God wants our minds on spiritual, heavenly things, not earth. In a sense, yes. Paul says, "Set your mind on the things above [where Christ is], not on the things that are on earth" (Colossians 3:2). In transforming our minds, there is a letting-go of earthly concerns: "Casting all your anxiety on Him, because He cares for you" (1 Peter 5:7).

But Jesus also asks, "What do you want me to do for you?" He cares about our cares. At times, this question serves as a spiritual scalpel, diagnosing the idols of our hearts (Mark 10:36). But not always (not even when the question is repeated in the same chapter, Mark 10:51). Yes, Jesus calls us higher. And yes, He meets us where we are. And He is compassionate, which literally means to share (com, be with) someone's cares (passio, suffering).

If Jesus cares about what I care about, this is encouraging. When my mind wanders between worldly cares, it does not evade the notice of the God who created the world. But it is also challenging. Do I care about what my children care about? My students? My friends? My spouse? Or does my mind wander only between my own cares? Do I listen attentively? Is my heart engaged?

And if God cares about what I care about... Do I care about what He cares about?
