Song of the Week

Below is one of the songs we will be singing this week. We encourage you to read and meditate on the words.

The Love of God

Words and Music by Frederick M. Lehman (1917) •
Verse 3 adapted from Haddamut by Meir ben Isaac Nehorai

Verse 1

The love of God is greater far
Than tongue or pen can ever tell;
It goes beyond the highest star,
And reaches to the lowest hell.
The guilty pair, bowed down with care,
God gave His Son to win;
His erring child He reconciled,
And pardoned from his sin.

Refrain

O love of God, how rich and pure!
How measureless and strong!
It shall forevermore endure
The saints' and angels' song.

Verse 2

When ancient time shall pass away,
And earthly thrones and kingdoms fall;
When men who here refuse to pray,
On rocks and hills and mountains call;
God's love so bright, shall still endure,
All measureless and high;
Redeeming grace to Adam's race—
The saints' and angels' song.

Verse 3

Could we with ink the ocean fill,
And were the skies of parchment made;
Were every stalk on earth a quill,
And every man a scribe by trade;
To write the love of God above
Would drain the ocean dry;
Nor could the scroll contain the whole,
Though stretched from sky to sky.

Thinking Theologically

Regarding the love that exists within the Trinity, John Owen wrote that "the divine nature in the person of the Son is the only full, resting, complete object of the love of God the Father," and that "the delight of the Father from all eternity was in the Son. The ineffable love and mutual delight of the Father and the Son by the Spirit is that which is the least notion we have of the blessedness of the eternal God." Owen explains that all other love flows from this eternal source: "every thing else of love is but a free act of the will of God,—a free emanation from this eternal love between the Father and the Son," and "the sole reason why there is such a thing as love in the world among the creatures, angels or men,—that God ever implanted it in the nature of rational creatures,—was, that it might shadow and represent the ineffable, eternal love that the Father had unto the Son, and the Son unto the Father, by the Spirit."

Directed Prayer

Please join with us in praying for:

1. That we would be united in and known by our love for one another.
2. That God would give you an opportunity this week to share the love of God in the Gospel to someone in your life.
3. That God would be gracious to open the hearts of our communities so that a fresh awakening would happen in our time.
