1. How do you remind yourself of the great things God has accomplished in your life?

Into the Bible

Read Deuteronomy 16:1-8

2. Passover commemorated God's deliverance of Israel from slavery, while Communion reminds us of Christ's sacrifice to deliver us from sin. How does the Passover point forward to and foreshadow Christ's sacrifice?
3. Notice that unleavened bread is mentioned four times in this passage. What does leaven represent spiritually in Scripture, and what lesson can we learn from the emphasis on unleavened bread in this passage?

Read Deuteronomy 16:9-12

4. The Feast of Weeks, or Pentecost, was a feast of thanksgiving around the time of harvest where God's people would make a freewill offering in response to His provision. Though we don't observe this feast, Christians are called to live with an attitude of thanksgiving. What are some ways that we can make "freewill offerings" to express our gratitude toward God for all His blessings?

Read Deuteronomy 16:13-17

5. The previous feast was to be observed at the start of harvest season and this feast at the end. We have learned about three feasts that God's people were to observe to be reminded of God's deliverance and provision. Does this teach you anything about how regularly bringing God's goodness to mind might be spiritually beneficial?

Read Deuteronomy 16:18 – Deuteronomy 17:1

6. Read verses 18-20 and discuss God's heart concerning justice among His people and discuss how that ought to impact our attitudes toward one another. Reference the following verses for more insights.
 - a. Matthew 7:12
 - b. Romans 12:18
 - c. 1 Peter 3:8-12
7. Deuteronomy 16:21 - Deuteronomy 17:1 warn against idolatry. How can we guard against letting the things around us steal away our affection and allegiance from God?

Read Deuteronomy 17:2-20

8. The remainder of this chapter contains instructions regarding having careful, just, and responsible leadership among God's people. What does this, along with Jesus' teaching from Matthew 20:25-28 teach us about God's heart concerning how we exercise authority over one another?

Application
