

Scoreboard

Walk into any gymnasium or stadium in the world and you will find that they all have one thing in common. They all have a scoreboard. The scoreboard is there to show everyone who is winning and who is losing. The scoreboard shows who is excelling and who is failing. In high school and college I was a basketball player. I'm exactly six feet tall on a good day. That means that I was always one of the shorter ones on the court. I'm also not all that fast and I can't jump that high. So needless to say I got my shot blocked a lot. When someone would block my shot, they would get in my face and start talking trash. I could usually shut them up with one word. I would just look them in the eye and in a soft voice say, "Scoreboard". Admittedly, that only works if you are winning. But it was a way of saying, "I don't care how good of a play you just made; you are still losing."

One place you don't find a scoreboard, but probably should, is in the hallways of our schools. There may not be a scoreboard but trust me, scores are being kept. "I'm more popular than you." "I'm better looking than you." "I have nicer clothes and check out these new shoes." "I'm with the in crowd and you hang out with losers." The hallways of schools may be the most vicious place on planet Earth. I'd like to say that we grow out of this but there is too much evidence to prove me wrong. Office buildings can be just as cruel as Middle School. And even in our older years, we still continue to check the scoreboard. When my mother began living in an assisted living facility, Krista and I bought her the nicest walker that was available. She immediately began to walk the hallways as often as possible. Not for exercise, but to show off her new walker to her fellow occupants.

And do not forget to do good and to share with others, for with such sacrifices God is pleased. Hebrews 13:16

There is only one scoreboard that really matters. Are you living in a way that pleases God? If you are pleasing God it doesn't matter if you are loved by others or despised by others. If you are pleasing, God it doesn't matter if you are dressed in the latest fashion or you look like you just walked out an alley. Live for an audience of one. And when anyone tries to make you feel bad about yourself just look them in the eye and in a soft voice say, "Scoreboard!"
