

When You Say Nothing at All

This morning as we were getting ready Krista said, “Alexa, play 80’s Country.” After playing a few classics a song started that I have grown to love and Krista has grown to despise. So I smiled and said, “Here is our theme song.” To which Krista responded, “This song is a lie!” The song is called, “When You Say Nothing at All.” The sentiment of the song is that you don’t have to say a word to your partner, your actions will do all the talking for you. The reason Krista is not a big fan of this song is because of all the years she spent saying to me, “Tell me what you are thinking.” “How are you feeling?” “C’mon, just talk to me.” Believe it or not there was a time in my life when I did not like talking about my feelings. I was raised in a family where feelings were not discussed openly. So it is not natural for me to just open my heart and let it out. That is why I like the song so much. I also like this song because I believe it has some biblical principles behind it.

This is how we know what love is: Jesus Christ laid down his life for us. And we ought to lay down our lives for our brothers and sisters. If anyone has material possessions and sees a brother or sister in need but has no pity on them, how can the love of God be in that person? Dear children, let us not love with words or speech but with actions and in truth. 1 John 3:16-18

Let me be clear, words are important. With our words we confess the name of Jesus. With our words we pray for the repentance of our sins. With our words we honor God and sing praises to Him. With our words we speak truth and encourage others. But if those words are not followed by actions that prove them, the words are worthless. So let me say to God, “I love you.” Now it’s up to me to have the actions in my life prove these words. And let me say to my wife, “Check my actions. Don’t they prove that I love you?” And by the way Krista, I’m thinking that you are the best thing that has happened to me in my life. I’m feeling great. And regardless of what Alexa says, I would like to spend some time just talking.
