Seven Years of serving in Japan

Hello, everyone, I am very pleased to announce that I became engaged to a lovely, godly woman, Emi Kohatsu. We have known each other for several years, and we began dating last year. We are seeking God for the timeline of our wedding, but we are projecting sometime next year.

We recently hosted a Gospel Gamer tournament as part of our outreach for the young kids and youth. We are hopeful that there could be more kids coming in to participate, inviting their friends, and others to hear the Gospel.

Recently, one of our former students returned to serve as an intern. Bud Stonebreaker, whose father was a pastor in Idaho, and grandfather is a pastor in Hawaii. Bud is a fiery evangelist, with a passion to witness and share the Gospel, so having him here is certainly a blessing.

We recently hosted a Pastor Conference about the vision for Japan. They gave much encouragement, and they gave clarification and understanding about the situations in Japan and the Mission Work. I spoke with the Japanese pastor, Kiyomasa who told me about the communities and churches in the north, like Miyagi and Hokkaido, where I would love to go and serve one day.

I am grateful for those who continue to support and pray over the ministry in Japan, reaching out to the people here, as well as raising up young aspiring believers in the Word. Prayer Requests

Some of us are feeling ill, myself included. Prayers over our physical healing would be appreciated.

As Emi and I take on the next steps of our relationship, we pray for preparation and wisdom for our future wedding. I know that the time will fly by too fast.

The preparation for the SOSJapan is still ongoing, but we are looking at potentially 6-7 youths coming in to serve for the month.

Please continue to pray and support the folks in the Miyagi prefecture. Pray for the Robb family, the Cameron family, and others serving there.
