WEEK 1

Wisdom for Living: Marriage

Reflection Questions

1. In my closest relationships, am I helping to build others up through my words and actions, or are there ways I may be tearing them down?

2. When conflict arises, am I more concerned with controlling the situation and getting my way, or with honoring the other person and pursuing our shared good?

3. What do my everyday words reveal about the kind of person I am becoming?

4. Am I using the strengths, wisdom, abilities, and influence God has given me primarily for myself, or to help others flourish and accomplish God's purposes?

5. If the people closest to me described the impact of my character on our home and relationships, what would they say—and what is one area in which God may be calling me to grow?
