TSA Travel Updates 2026:

- Innocent item automation “flags” – tightly packed clothes, medical devices, artificial joints, & certain creams/medications can all trigger innocent alerts.
- Biometric facial recognition can misidentify you – especially with outdated ID photos. You can opt out and request a manual check.
- Special accommodations available at request – accessibility lanes, private screenings, seated pat-downs, hand inspection for medical equipment are all available.
- Don’t engage front-line agents – ask for a supervisor when you need extra help.
- If anything gets damaged, act immediately – Ask for supervisor, take photos and fill out the form. You lose that claim if you walk away.
