WORLD COMMUNION SUNDAY

Pastor
Kristin
Hansen

This Sunday is World Communion Sunday, and I keep coming back to the table. Whether we are at a family table or at the counter at a diner, we get closer over a meal. Strangers even become friends. That's what Paul is getting at in 1 Corinthians 10:16-17: when we share one bread, we become one body, even across different churches, languages, and traditions. And in Luke 24, two disciples walk the road to Emmaus with Jesus and don't recognize him. It's only when he breaks the bread that their eyes are opened.

So the table is a place where we remember, and it's also a place where we notice. We notice Christ with us, and we notice our siblings in faith beside us, near and far. We don't come to this table alone. Come as you are, with an open heart, and receive God's grace. You belong here, and you belong to one another.

ONE BREAD, ONE BODY:

CHRIST AT THE TABLE

What happens when people from different backgrounds, cultures, languages, and traditions gather around the same table? We discover that what unites us is greater than what divides us.

On World Communion Sunday, Christians around the world gather around the Lord's Table. In 1 Corinthians 10:16–17, Paul reminds us that though we are many, we are one body because we share one bread. Communion is more than a personal moment between us and God—it reminds us that we belong to one another.

Christ Made Known

The story of the road to Emmaus (Luke 24:28–35) gives us another beautiful picture of the table. Two disciples walk with the risen Christ but don't recognize Christ. They listen, they talk, and they travel together, but it is not until they sit down and bread is broken that their eyes are opened.

"Christ was made known to them in the breaking of the bread."

Sometimes we may miss God's presence because we are looking for something extraordinary. The Emmaus story reminds us that Christ can become known in ordinary moments—in a shared meal, a familiar gesture, a conversation, or the person sitting beside us.

So come to the table with an open heart. Receive God's grace. Look around you. Recognize Christ in the people beside you, and carry the love of this table into the world.

Flowers have a wonderful way of making a space feel welcoming, joyful, and special. You can help bring that beauty to our worship services by providing flowers for the altar.

Choose a Sunday on the Flower Chart in the Worship Center Lobby, then bring your flowers in a vase early Sunday morning. After worship, the flowers are yours to take home and enjoy!
