

The background of the image is a serene autumn scene. On the left, a tall tree with vibrant orange and yellow foliage stands prominently. To its right, a calm body of water, likely a pond or a slow-moving stream, reflects the surrounding trees and the clear blue sky. The trees on the opposite bank also display autumnal colors. A central vertical banner, composed of a light blue upper section and a light yellow lower section, runs through the middle of the image. At the very top of this banner is a rectangular inset showing a close-up of several autumn leaves in shades of orange, red, and yellow. The title "Praise God" is written in a large, red, serif font across the blue portion of the banner. At the bottom of the banner, the phrase "from whom all blessings flow" is written in a smaller, red, italicized serif font.

Welcome to Hopewell! We are Glad You are Here!!

I have been pondering this morning on this thought of the promise that our Lord Is Still Leading us each and every day.

These verses found here in Psalm 107:7–8, 14–15, 20–21, 30–31 reminds us again and again of the goodness and faithfulness of God. The people of Israel found themselves wandering, bound, hurting, and facing storms they could not control—but every time they cried unto the Lord, He heard them, delivered them, led them, healed them, and brought them safely through.

Maybe you are facing a difficult place this morning. You may not know which way to go, you may feel surrounded by circumstances beyond your control, or you may be carrying a burden that nobody else knows about. But remember this: the same God who led them through the wilderness, brought them out of darkness, healed their brokenness, and calmed their storm is still the same God today for you and me!

Psalm 107:20 says, “He sent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions.”

God's Word still brings hope when the heart is discouraged. His Word still gives direction when the path is uncertain. His Word still brings healing to wounded hearts and strength to weary souls. And notice what the psalmist says after God brings them through: “Oh that men would praise the LORD for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men!”

Don't let today's trouble make you forget yesterday's faithfulness. If God has brought you this far, He is not going to abandon you now. Keep trusting Him. Keep praying. Keep believing. The God who was faithful yesterday will be faithful today and will remain faithful tomorrow. He is still leading. He is still delivering. He is still healing. He is still calming storms. And He is still good! Whatever you are facing this morning, lift your eyes toward Him and remember: your help is not in the circumstance—it is in the God who controls the circumstance.

Have a blessed day, and don't forget to praise Him for His goodness!

Pastor, Dennis McCoy
