Welcome to ONE GOSPEL!

On behalf of the One Gospel team and Redeemer Bible Church, welcome to our first conference! At long last, and with much planning and preparation, this is our opportunity to LIFT UP OUR EYES to our great and awesome God.

This is exactly what we need to do. One Gospel launches in a season when many believers feel disheartened and divided. We have all come through a lot in the last 5-8 years: political turbulence, societal changes, life transitions, organizational upheaval, the rise of evangelical tribalism, and most poignantly of all, the deaths of numerous beloved evangelical leaders.

For many of us, the battery may be a little low. We may need some recharging and refreshing. Together with One Gospel cofounder Jon Benzinger, we pray that the next three days help you to drink in the abundant grace and goodness of God. Without apology or self-consciousness, we will sing soaring praise to God; we will hear the Word expounded and skillfully applied to our hearts; we will enjoy fellowship purchased by the blood of Christ.

In all of this, we will get reinvigorated to live the Christian life for the glory of our great God, and resolve to be a gospel-driven people once more. We pray that this event is not an endpoint; we pray that it is the beginning of a new season in the life of Christ's church. After all, now is not a time to huddle or withdraw from a fallen world; now is a time for new works, fresh faith, and refocused purpose.

The days are evil, but Christ is on his throne. Let's lift up our eyes to him, and come boldly to the throne of grace (Hebrews 4:16).

Greenville Presbyterian Theological Seminary

Over 35 years ago, ruling elders from a nearby presbyterian church founded Greenville Seminary. They looked to the past, modeling our founding documents after those of Old Princeton Seminary. While some seminaries were lowering standards for language instruction, systematic theology, and preaching hours, they raised them. These men had taken vows to uphold the Westminster Standards, and they kept that standard for all professors to ensure transparency and consistency. Since the aim was to train pastors, they insisted that costs be kept as low as possible for the men who were studying. These founding convictions and aims still animate us today.

About ONE GOSPEL

One Gospel is a content resource ministry with a vertical focus. Based out of Redeemer Bible Church of Gilbert, Arizona, we seek to lift the church's gaze to God. We do this through conferences, events, articles, podcast episodes, videos, books, and more. All of our work seeks to meet the most urgent need of the human race: to know the one true God as he is revealed in Scripture, and to enjoy him.

One Gospel was founded in 2025 through friendship. As Jon Benzinger and Owen Strachan observed the prevalence of fighting and the lack of gospel unity among believers, they saw a need for a new ministry. Drawing on the example of past parachurch ministries like Grace to You, Ligonier, and Desiring God, they resolved to build a new work, one that would exalt the God of the Bible, proclaim gospel grace, and pursue unity in the blood of Christ.

Over time, the vision took shape, culminating in the first One Gospel conference in April 2026. Further projects will follow—a website with freshly updated content, a podcast, video teaching series, and more. All this activity advances the three major emphases of our ministry:

1. Build a Christian worldview for the rising generation anchored in the gospel
2. Offer gracious Reformed theology driven by the gospel
3. Unify believers fractured by tribalism through the gospel

Our first aim is to help the rising generation form a Christian worldview anchored in the gospel. We seek to reach the rising generation where they are today: online. We desire more than clicks and views; we want to help God's people think biblically about all of life (Romans 12:1-2). The Word of God is our formative and final authority, and it shapes all our thinking and living.

Our second aim is to offer people what we call "gracious Reformed theology." The greatest demonstration of God's love—and God's justice—was the death of Jesus Christ for sinners like us (1 John 4:10). In unflinching opposition to legalism of every kind, we proclaim a God who is loving, holy, kind, and true—and we want to be known for the same spirit (John 1:17, 13:35).

Our third aim is to unify the church. While we honor secondary and tertiary doctrines (and the need to disagree in charity over them), we want to reclaim the church's unity in primary doctrine. We have the one message that unites people from every tribe and tongue, background and nation: the gospel (Ephesians 2:11-22).
