

All the Colors of the Rainbow

1 All the co - lours of the rain - bow live un - seen in 2 All the bo - dy's parts are want - ed, nor can one de - 3 Ev' - ry lan - guage gains more mu - sic when the words for 4 Teach us, God, our need of oth - ers; through them help us

6
dai - ly light, but their splend - ors find ex - pres - sion when re - spise the rest: head and hand must work to - geth - er, as must peace ap - pear: Pax, Sa - laam, Eir - in - i, Hei - wa, Pa - ce, ful - ly live. Wean us from our self - ish hab - its; let us leased to h - uman sight; so the church re - veals most beau - ty eye, ear, throat, and chest; so the church needs all its mem - bers San - ti, Frie - den, Mir. Though our tongues make sounds that va - ry list - en, learn, for - give. May we see your longed - for im - age where di - ver - si - ty___ is real: breadth of race___ and for a range of mi - ni - stries: var - ied gifts___ with all be - speak a com - mon home: long - ing for___ the in each hu - man heart___ and face, and___ be - hold___ how 26

13

20

class___ and gen - der, room for doubt, and space to heal. one___ great mis - sion, "Do this for___ the least of these."
end___ of con - flict and new life___ in God's Sha - lom.
those___ a - round___ us can be chan - nels of your grace.